DISCUSS GATHERING

Committee Confident Mass Meeting January 20 to Raise Funds Will Be Big Success.

The Hebrew Relief Committee charge of the arrangements for the mass meeting here the night of January 20 to raise funds for the war-stricken Hebrews of Europe, met this afternoon in the offices of Chairman Simon Wolf to perfect plans for the gathering.

Preliminary contributions to the relief fund and the public interest already aroused indicate the mass meeting will be productive of a generous fund to send to Europe's war zone. With millions of Hebrews in a homeless and poverty-stricken condition in Poland, Gairia and other war areas the appeal is one that carries with the bare recital of the situation.

The Rev. Dr. John L. Magnes, of New The Rev. Dr. John L. Magnes, of New York, who made an eloquent speech at the recent New York mass meeting, where $1,000,000 was contributed within a few minutes, will address the Washington gathering. It is expected the Temple on Eighth street will be crowded to its capacity when the noted New Yorker appears to convey the story of the sufferings of the Hebrews of Europe.

The committee in charge of plans for the meeting comprises Simon Wolf, hairman; the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Abram Simon, Julius Peyser and Fulton Bry-

DECITAL IS GIVEN AT CENTRAL HIGH

Three Graduates Entertain

Parents and relatives of teachers and pupils together with the student body and faculty of the Central High School attended the musicale given in the assembly hall of the institution today by three graduates of the school. The young artists were Miss Margory Snyder, violinist, '12: Miss Bernice D. Ran-

Snyder, accompanist, '09.

Emory Wilson, principal of the school introduced the musicians and announced that Grosvenor Dawe would deliver a lecture to the faculty and students on January 19. Miss Snyder gave "Souvenir," by Drdla, as her first number. She then played "Swing Song," by Barnes. Miss Randall scored with Cadman's "From the Land of the Sky Blue Water." Miss Snyder's particulated six numbers, concluding with car blue Water." Miss Snyder's part invluded six numbers, concluding with "The Swan." by Saint-Saens, Miss' Randall sang four songs, concluding with Rogers' "Wind Song."

Max Lamar, crime specialist, is informed of the release of "Circle" Jim Borden, a notorious criminal. The name "Circle" which appears on the right hand in each generation of the Bordens.

June Travis and her mother, interested in the reform of ex-convicts, are swaiting Borden's release. Borden refuses their aid. Borden's son Ted, a good-for-nothing, is about to steal a man's watch, when his father pulls him away. Pursued by a large crowd, Lamar among them, Borden and his son reach his rooms. Old Borden seals the room in which the boy is asleep and turns on the gas. Borden kills himself.

Thinking that the circle-banded family is extinct, Lamar is surprised to see the Red Circle on the hand of a woman in a swiftly moving automobile. He overtakes the car, but occupant has gone. The woman slinks into a nearby park and turns her coat Inside out, exposing a

The woman in black is no other than June Travis. To Mary, her old nurse, June confesses what she has done and the old servant is overcome. The girl's statement about the red circle causes the nurse to give an exclamation that arouses sistement about the red circle causes the nurse to give an exclamation that arouses. June's curiosity and she insists that Mary tell her all she knows.

Mary's complete story informs June that she is not Mrs. Travis' daughter, but the daughter of Jim Borden, Mary having changed the infants when the Travis baby died. Lamar calls on June and she jokes with him about the Red Circle.

and she jokes with him about the Red Circle.

Mary, in trying to divert the suspicions of Detective Lamar, finds herself in a precarious situation. She has donned June's coat and Lamar seeing the familiar black, pursues and corners her in a garage, her coat having caught in the door. While Lamar awaits permission to force the door, Mary slips from the coat and escapes. Lamar asks forgiveness from June for suspecting her and hurries to headquarters with the coat.

awoke, deep down in her dark eyes.

June was in dire perplexity. She wanted Lamar to come into the house; on the bare chance that she might be able to abstract the coat he so zealously carried or to exchange it for one of the same general appearance that she had bought two years earlier in Paris. On the other hand, she dreaded lest her mother should see and recognize the coat and say something that should reawaken his suspicions. June did not know whether to be sorry or glad when Max answered regretfully:

"I wish I might come in. And I'm going to call, just as soon as you'll let me. But I must hurry off to police headquarters now with this coat. The police will comb the whole city for the maker and there's no time to waste." awoke, deep down in her dark eyes.

"The shepherd must still track the dall, soprano, '07, and Miss Dorothy the trap before tomorrow night. I li stake everything on that phophecy.

Good-by."
"Good hunting!" she called merrily over her shoulder as she ran up the steps to the front door.
But the moment she was in her own room the lightness of manner fell from room the lightness of manner feil from her like an ili-fitting garment. Her face was suddenly drawn and haggard. "He'll do it!" she said to herself, over and over again. "He'll do it! Nothing can stop him. Nothing can save me." Gradually the Red Circle crept into sight on the back of her white hand. When she spoke again her voice had grown tonse as a taut guitar string. grown tense as a taut guitar string.

June, coming out from the men's outfitting shop, carried a big and awkward bundle that she refused to allow the obsequious clerk to send home for her. Her next visit was to a theatrical wigmaker. A few minutes later she emerged with a second and smaller package, got into the limousine and went home.

Yama, at the door of the Travis house, sprang forward to relieve her of the two bulky parcels. But she curtiv refused to let him take the bundles. The Jap butler had already caused her enough trouble for one day, and she had a supersti-June, coming out from the men's
